

Will & Trust Beneficiaries

You know what is important to you and your family during your lifetime, so why not continue to make a positive impact in this community through a simple designation in your will? By naming Greenville Tech Foundation as a beneficiary in your will or living trust, you can leave a transformational gift that continues your good work and leaves a lasting legacy.

A will represents a person's final wishes and intentions. After providing for your loved ones, please consider one final act of generosity through a bequest in your will or living trust that provides enduring support for our vital work. For many of us, this will be the most significant gift we will make - our gift of a lifetime.

Tools to Make a Bequest

If you have not done so, you need to make a will or a living trust instrument. This is a significant and important undertaking. If you have a will or living trust, you may see your attorney to make an amendment.

“

I am deeply grateful for your generosity. This scholarship eases my financial burden and helps me pursue my degree. Your kindness means so much—may you be blessed in return. Thank you for believing in me!

What Are the Advantages to Making a Gift from Your Will?

It's easy to arrange

If you haven't yet prepared a will, we encourage you to do so. Be sure to ask your attorney to incorporate charitable gift language for the Foundation as part of the process.

It's flexible

Gifts through your will or trust allows you the flexibility of specifying a dollar amount or a percentage or remainder of your estate. You can also change your mind at any time.

You retain full ownership and use of assets during your life

This means you can make a gift while preserving your financial security. It does not affect your finances today.

You can reduce taxes payable by your estate

In general, there is an unlimited deduction of charitable gifts against the value of an estate – greatly reducing tax consequences for your heirs.
